Should Schools Start Later?

Many schools start very early in the morning, and I think this is a problem for students. In my opinion schools should start at 9 am or later because teenagers need more sleep.

First of all, teenagers do not get enough sleep. Many students go to bed late because of homework and phones, and then they have to wake up at 6 am. When they are tired in class they can not focus, and their grades suffer. Studies show that sleepy students make more mistakes.

Another reason is health. Students who sleep less are more likely to feel stressed and get sick. A later start time would help them feel better and be more happy at school.

Some people say that a later start means school finishes later and sports practice will be harder. This is true but I think the schools can fix it by changing the schedule. Also, parents who work early might have problem with a later start.

In conclusion, schools should start later. It is better for students sleep and health. Thats why I believe the change is a good idea.
